

Daily Blog

Category: Breaking News

Published: Thursday, 20 September 2007 14:46

Never Too Young To Start

Who can resist a child that wants to join in when you are quilting? Allison's daughter has been surrounded by fabric and quilting all her young life. It is only natural that she should want to start her own "project". Read the entire article in Stories. It is certain to make you smile. Maybe there is someone in your life that wants to spend time learning about your passion of quilting. Be a mentor and pass on the tradition.