Walking Tour of La Veta #5

There are several Real Estate Offices connected to the Buildings you have already seen, but I thought you would like to see this office in an historic building.

So here are a few of the properties for your review. The area can actually be quite pricey, but you can end up with some land. I believe the "Antler Chandliers" are negotiable.

My guess is that "panoramic views" means that there is nothing to block your view--absolutely nothing.

We will end our tour tomorrow with a sign that tells a city kid that he isn't in Los Angeles any more.
