In the Spirit of Enlightenment...

Regarding folloiw blog - posted earlier today - in no way am I frustrated or annoyed with the letter to Alex. Believe me - it is tame. The point of the blog post is to urge our members to be on guard for similar, uneducated comments, and through your experiences, enlighten and educate those who do not understand how or why we have moved to the internet. I'm amused - and thankful - that some of you are on the defense, but the reality is that we need you to help us to keep the information about The Quilt Show accurate. - Thanks - Ricky
