

Daily Blog

Category: Alex

Published: Sunday, 03 February 2008 15:20

Super Bowl

We are just about to head out to our friends house for a party! Not being a huge football fan, I decided to get busy on my BOM - perfect to take along to work on. As I looked at this photograph I realized the center part of our star logo is missing - oh well, I guess that will be the ONLY place there is a mistake on my quilt - lol. BTW: You will LOVE Suzanne's show which airs tomorrow - she has GREAT tips for tackling applique. I used her bias method for this block. I had never seen it before - perfect show at the perfect time.