

Daily Blog

Category: Member Stories

Published: Monday, 22 April 2013 00:00

---

Fractured quilt benefits cancer society

---

Story Submitted by: mountainquilter

Six quilters created a fractured quilt depicting the Blue Bridge, an iconic symbol of our local area. It was exhibited at a local art show and sold with the money going to the local cancer society. The money was used for fuel vouchers so that patients could drive to their therapy sessions. It was the first foray into fractured quilting for all of us. It turned out to be wonderful and we're really proud of it. We're currently working on another.