"Who on Earth Lives Here?" a quilt by Esther Tronchoni Simo

Esther Tronchoni Simo's quilt, Who on Earth Lives Here?, is based on a picture by the artist Roger Dean. Dean is known for his album covers, logos, typefaces and organic architectural designs. (If you own an album by the group Yes, you probably have some of his art.) She let her imagination run wild and created a mysterious world of her own. Can you figure out who lives here?

Esther's quilt was part of the Fantasy/Whimsy exhibit at the Houston International Quilt Festival 2018.

Having been a fan of Roger Dean's art for many years, I decided to make a quilt based on one of his pictures. This one in particular sends me to a mysterious world of dreams where my imagination can run wild.

Techniques: Machine quilting—stationary machine, free-motion; fused appliqué, hand embroidery

Materials: Cotton fabrics, cotton and polyester threads, cotton batting, tulle

Design Source: Inspired by an LP cover designed by Roger Dean
