Anna and G on the Road: Stitch Like An Egyptian!?

If you remember correctly, I showed a quilt made by one of the "Tentmakers of Cairo" that Jean Wells Keenan was able to procure on one of her quilting adventures.

Just to update you, I did get into one of a series of classes being offered at the Quilter's Affair in Sisters, Oregon! And, although, if you have been on this journey with me for a while you know I need another handwork project like I need a hole in the head! But, what can I say...I love handwork. And realistically, what are the chances I will be going to Cairo? That is the most wonderful part of the quilting world...many of these retreats/workshops are able to bring the teachers to us. What a blessing!

When I visited The Road to California I was shocked to see my future teachers! Naturally, I put in a good word for the student they will have in class this summer...namely me! LOL.

I encourage you to seek out workshops to attend...the world is available on your own cutting board!

Stay tuned and travel along with us on Quilt Roadies.
