Anna and G on the Road: New Adventure

In our ever changing world, Anna and G on the Road has been staying close to home. We do look forward to that day when we can hit the road in Penny and visit Quilt Shops, Shows and Vendor Malls!!! In the meantime, we will be taking a break from The Quilt Show while we dream and plan some new adventures. I have been working away in The Bee Hive and you can catch up with some of my at home adventures on my YouTube Channel, Quilt Roadies, where I have a new video up with my very own quilt show in Sisters, Oregon.

I would like to share a clever tip one of my quilting buddy's came up with for her Buttermilk Basin Home wool project. This project has monthly wool mats that are changed each month to reflect the season or holiday.

The instructions suggest pins, but she decided to use velcro! So clever and by using a plastic template she made holes so that the velcro would be attached to the circles in the same place, thus eliminating the possibility of one of them not fitting!
